Technology Graduate Programme - All engineering degrees - Lisbon

What is Accenture Technology?

Through unmatched industry experience, leading technologies from our ecosystem partners and startups, and the largest delivery network in the world, we provide a powerful range of capabilities that can be tailored to our client's most complex business needs. With over 100 innovation hubs deployed around the world, we help clients continuously innovate at speed and at scale so they can outpace their peers. You will bring innovation, intelligence and industry experience together with the newest technologies to help clients innovate at scale and transform their businesses.

Our Technology Graduate Programme

The Technology Graduate Program combines training for 8 weeks plus on the job training in ongoing projects. After the training period will be offered you the possibility of subsequent full-time contract.

Who you are

Your most important asset when applying to this program is the desire to develop your career, as well as your motivation to grow your professional skills. This program will allow you to enhance your know-how, stretching your skills and gain real-projects experience.

• You have an academic backgrounds such as: Sciences, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics and Management (or similar areas)
• Ability to speak and write in English
• Strong analytic skills, be a quick learner and have a strong business acumen

What you will do

On this program you will develop your expertise, by designing, building and supporting the innovative technical solutions we're renowned for. You will understand what our clients want to achieve, you will discover what's possible within their existing framework, and you will explore the best technologies to achieve the most effective results. Working with onshore and offshore teams, you'll work on a variety of challenging projects for a range of clients, across a range of industries.